

New Year, New appointment, New offices

Following an exceptional 2010 and to keep the momentum going in 2011, specialist tyre supplier, ITWS, has recruited a new employee and moved in to larger offices to cope with the expansion of the business.

David Miller, who lives in Warrington, has been recruited as Branch Manager for the new Lowton based offices. He joins from haulage firm, Eddie Stobart where he was latterly Transport and Planning Manager.

‘A baptism of fire’ is how David describes his first week. Pent up demand for SG Revolution tyres after Christmas has meant that David’s skills have been quickly absorbed in to the business; dealing with customer requests, organising the logistics of new tyre sales and managing service exchange contracts. He commented:

“I’m thrilled to be part of ITWS; a business that is really going places as has been demonstrated by my first week. Their philosophy is similar to that of my previous employer; customer is king. I am quickly learning about the benefits of SG Revolution tyres and the huge range of tyre patterns that’s available for every type of wheeled machine”.

The company’s new offices are at Lowton Business Park; a fully serviced modern office complex located close to ITWS’s warehouse; where large stocks of SG Revolution tyres are kept under cover in ambient temperatures.

Pictured: David Miller and Les Williams, MD, are pictured outside the new office complex.